LEARN KEY ISSUES IN COMMUNITY BANKING LEADERSHIP

Never have the demands on a Bank's Board of Directors been greater. Demands arise from customers, stakeholders, regulators and staff. The current regulatory and economic environments have conspired to create potential hazards for directors. Directors are under increased pressure to keep the Bank in good shape, and it is crucial to have annual training dedicated to the Board of Directors, presidents, CEOs and any other senior-level officer of community banks of any size.

During this session, both inside and outside directors will gain a better understanding of the duties, responsibilities and liabilities involved in this leadership role. Attendees will leave this event better equipped to contribute to the financial security, marketing efforts and solvency of their institution.

ON THE AGENDA

- Responding to Regulatory Actions: We will discuss the responsibilities of the board and current best practices.
- Performance Management System: A common shortcoming that we observe in the marketplace is the absence of a functioning performance management system. Every CEO should receive from his/her board a written performance evaluation each year.
- Audit Committee Function: The role of this committee has been enhanced by current events. This committee's responsibilities have expanded to include "Enterprise Risk Management".
- Board Reports: Board reports are supposed to be structured to inform the board and to give the board the information required to make policy and operational decisions.
- Balancing Strategies for Community Banks: We will explore the future of branches in the community bank's future. The future will not be Digital vs. Physical, but more likely to be "Phygital" which is combination of both.
