
-Embracing Flexibility during Uncertain Times-
Presented by Paul Vitale – October 22, 2020

Commit to Reaching Your Full Potential – Across the board, achievers do more than just promote their causes; they make them a part of their everyday lives. When individuals understand task specifics and commit to its undertaking, it permeates everything they do, becoming part of who they are. In the end, they know their “why”!

Structure the Day to Work in Your Favor – Creating a system that allows you to remain organized both physically and mentally pays large dividends. The lack of a sound structure affects daily productivity by draining your time, zapping your energy, and preventing you from reaching your full potential.

Be Inviting and Accessible to Those Knocking – The offering of time and attention to others through an approachable manner is of great significance when setting an effective tone. Intentionally engaging in meaningful dialogue builds bonds that serve the overall team well, while encouraging a collaborative climate that is gratifying for all.

Reinvent Tendencies and Techniques – Sometimes we do what we want to do, until we begin doing what we are meant to do. Honest self-evaluation, the assessment of strengths and weaknesses, and the desire to continue to learn, understand, and change are crucial areas wise leaders deliberate.
